Did You Know...

...that students on CS50IP (Industrial Placement) at the University of Aberdeen can find paid IT work placements through e-Placement Scotland?

e-Placement Scotland helps students at Scotland’s universities to find paid work placements in the IT sector.

Placements can be full or part-time and last from three months to a full year. To be eligible you should be returning to full-time study at the end of the placement, either to complete your current course at the University of Aberdeen or perhaps starting on a postgraduate qualification.

Taking a work placement is a guaranteed way of earning money, while putting your skills into practice within industry. With over half of all job offers coming as a result of a work placement, can you really afford not to take up this opportunity?
